

Cheam Squash Club

Pro Squash Tournament

2019

Last weekend, Cheam Squash Club hosted a selection of the world's best squash players. It culminated in the world no. 51 Richie Fallows & world no. 61 Nathan Lake reaching the final on Sunday. It was a highly competitive match with Richie eventually winning 3-1.

The stand out performance of the tournament came from world ranked 210, Curtis Malik. This is the third time Curtis has played in the Cheam Pro Event. During his first two attempts he lost in the first round. This year, Curtis made the semi final narrowly losing 3-1 to Nathan Lake. This demonstrates how running this event regularly helps young players gain the experience and skill to compete with players ranked around 50 in the world.

A special mention to club champion Rob Nicol who stepped up following a late withdrawal and fought valiantly in his match.

This event would not be possible without our sponsors. Our main sponsor this year was Darren Plumbridge / D.Plumridge Driveway & Patio Construction. Huge thanks to Darren for supporting the event and the club through the coming year.

Nuffield health also provided their facilities for players to use over the weekend which gives the tournament an extra level of professionalism.

Huge thank you to those who volunteered to mark and help on the social side of the event.

Finally, thank you to all the members who came to watch the squash over the weekend. You made it a great atmosphere for the players to compete in.

Winner: Richie Fallows

Runner Up: Nathan Lake
